

Quality Control

Hi! I'm Chris and I'm a quality control scientist at Croda.

On our plant we make lots of large batches of different products. When our plant operators have made the products we need to test each one to check that they are almost identical.

We carry out a number of different tests on all the products and they must pass each to allow them to be sold on to our customers.

Can you test the samples of sunscreen we have for you to see if they can be sold on to our customers, please?
